Pinay-Debre Feud May Cause Crisis

By ISRAEL NEUMANN, Jerusalem Post Correspondent

PARIS. — Premier de Gaulle returned last night from the Riviera in time to make his decision in the dispute between Premier Michel Debre and Finance Minister Antoine Pinay on economic policy, considered the most severe crisis facing the Fifth Republic.

Observers here fear that a decision to oust M. Pinay may induce General de Gaulle to suspend sessions of Parliament indefinitely and to introduce a Presidential system of authoritarian character.

It was learned from reliable sources that the Socialists have rejected a U.N.R. offer to join the Coalition, replacing M. Pinay's Moderates who are seen to be developing an offensive against the regime, and who may soon go into opposition. The Socialists are not willing to forgive the U.N.R.'s recent school law, and have decided to remain entrenched in opposition to the U.N.R. though the latter seems willing to accord wage increases and other social benefits.

Final Talk
President de Gaulle will today receive his Premier and M. Pinay for a final talk before announcing his decision at Wednesday's Cabinet meeting.

M. Pinay is in open revolt over some aspects of the government's economic policy which do not come under his jurisdiction, and highly critical of government policy towards European institutions and the Atlantic alliance.

The general belief here that M. Pinay will have to go intensified a sharp slump in the stock exchange yesterday. A technical compromise on outstanding economic problems is possible, but the political problems constituting the conflict's background seem insoluble, and M. Pinay's resignation is considered likely.

With the Moderates leaving the Coalition, only the U.N.R. and the M.R.P. would be left in the Cabinet to face the constant danger from Parliament, unless the President, using the wide prerogatives granted him by the new Constitution, decides to suspend Parliament indefinitely. Such a measure would meet determined opposition and might plunge France into dangerous internal discord.

India, Pakistan Reach Accord On Border Dispute

NEW DELHI (Reuters).

India and Pakistan took a step closer yesterday when they signed an agreement settling four out of five outstanding disputes on the Western border between them.

A joint communiqué said Pakistan had agreed to give up a claim to one disputed village on the border and India had given up its claim to three villages.

The agreement was signed by Mr. J.G. Bhargava, Joint Secretary of the Pakistan Foreign Affairs Ministry, and Mr. M. M. Durrani, India's Commonwealth Secretary in the External Affairs Ministry.

The only remaining border dispute between the two countries concerns Kutch, an area on the southernmost sector of the western frontier.

There has been no discussion of the Kashmir question, nor suggestion of any defence treaty between the two countries in the near future.

But there have been three major developments in their relations since the Chinese dispute with India developed: 1. The long-standing border disputes have been resolved with almost magical ease; 2. The two countries have come to grips with financial problems; 3. The two countries have agreed on principles on an international water treaty to share the canal waters of the Indus Basin.

Six and Seven
Some sort of association should be formed between the Common Market "six" and the British-led seven-nation Free Trade Association, and in the light of American initiative "we may be able to find ways of extending economic cooperation on a North Atlantic basis," he added.

Mr. Dillon said in a statement after his arrival from Washington that the meetings would consider immediate steps to have early informal consultations on trade problems and a long-range plan for international consultations in the future.

Space Congress OPENS IN NICE
NICE (Reuters). — More than 200 scientists from 18 countries met here on Monday for the first International Congress on Space Research.

The week-long Congress is sponsored by Cospar, the International Committee for Space Research. Papers to be presented deal with the Earth's atmosphere, the ionosphere, cosmic and solar rays, the moon and planets and instruments used in space research. Among the most eagerly-awaited is one expected to be given by Russian scientists on their studies of photographs of the reverse side of the moon.

U. N. Body Gives Priority To Debate on Anti-Semitism

UNITED NATIONS. — The U.N. Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination yesterday threw open its agenda to a wide-ranging debate on the wave of swastika-daubing and anti-Semitism.

The 14-member unit of the Human Rights Commission acted in response to appeals by the Israeli delegation, the World Jewish Congress and the International League for the Rights of Man.

Israel's delegation said in a letter that its Government and people were "shocked and disturbed by the recent outbreaks of hatred and anti-Jewish incitement."

Mr. Maurice Perle, representative of the W.J.C., asked delegates to debate the issue as a matter of "urgent gravity." He said Congress received reports suggesting restrictions on freedom of speech, but every civilized nation applied some limitation on expression. For instance, one must not shout "Fire" in a crowded theatre where there was no fire.

Britain, France and the U.A.R. teamed up in the Sub-Commission to try to bury the proposal, but Chile and Uruguay led the two-hour fight for "high priority." The U.S. delegates were finally taken, six members voted in favour, one against, and five abstained.

Already on the agenda was Item 11: "Measures to be taken for the cessation of any advocacy of national, racial or religious hostility that constitutes an incitement to hatred and violence, jointly or separately."

The Israeli letter said the Government and people of Israel were "shocked and disturbed by the recent outbreaks of hatred and anti-Jewish incitement wherever they may be."

It authorities in countries where outbreaks of anti-Semitism had occurred would "take vigorous measures to suppress them."

Israel sources said an observer from their delegation would sit in on the Sub-Commission meetings. Israel has no representation in the Sub-Commission, but its members serve as individuals in a private capacity, though they have the approval of their governments.

The establishment of a Noto base in East Africa in future years was a "distinct possibility," the newspaper said in an editorial.

"Those who give serious thought to world peace must be disturbed by the great expansion of China's rivalry with Russia and the enormous manpower flooding at the gates of India," the editorial added.

"Under a Communist premier instead of Mr. Nehru, the situation would be vastly changed and in those days whenever Russia's power has been going into Yemen."

Warm Welcome For Macmillan In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters).

Tens of thousands of cheering Africans greeted Britain's Prime Minister, Mr. Harold Macmillan, when he arrived here last night from Accra, Ghana.

They lined the main streets of the city and perched on walls and crowded overhead bridges for a glimpse of the Prime Minister and Lady Dorothy as they drove in from the airport.

At two points on the route hundreds of colourfully-clad women in groups waved tiny Union Jacks.

There were some shouts of "Zik" — popular name for Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, Nigeria's political leader now President of the Senate.

Mr. Macmillan was welcomed at arrival at the airport by the Nigerian Federal Prime Minister, Alhaji Sir Abubakar Tafawa Balewa, who said they were all delighted that Mr. Macmillan had been able to visit Nigeria at the beginning of what was going to be the most momentous year in its history.

Mr. Macmillan's visit coincides with the opening of Nigeria's new House of Representatives, whose first business will be to discuss and approve a motion that the Federation should present a prayer to Queen Elizabeth, asking that it be made independent within the Commonwealth from October 1 this year.

Nigeria, consisting of the northern, western and eastern regions, has a population of 40 million.

No communique was issued in Accra at the end of the Prime Minister's six-day visit to Ghana. He had had two hours of formal talks with Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, Prime Minister of Ghana and many "informal chats," as he described this at a press conference on Sunday.

Cairo Snubs Bunche; Deadlock on Blockade

UNITED NATIONS. — Dr. Ralph Bunche, U.N. Under-Secretary for Political Affairs, was snubbed in Cairo, which he visited last weekend to discuss the Suez Canal blockade. He was not even invited to the Arab Dam opening at which all high Government officials and many foreign dignitaries were present.

According to a "New York Times" dispatch, the only Egyptian official he talked to was Murtadha Ghaleb, formerly Secretary to Abdel Nasser, who told him that Egypt's cargo and ships would not be allowed through the Canal. The "Times" said he was scheduled to fly to Nairobi last night to see Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, according to his original schedule, made out before the detention of the Astypalaia last month.

Cairo was originally scheduled for one day, to change plans.

Hope to See Nasser
It is understood here that he had hoped to change his schedule and stay in Cairo until Thursday in order to see Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad, but he was prevented by the Egyptian Government.

Mr. Bunche's visit to Cairo was part of a tour of the Middle East. He is expected to visit Baghdad, Damascus and Beirut.

B-G Receives French, British Envoys

Jerusalem Post Reporter

Personal greetings from President de Gaulle to Ben-Gurion were delivered yesterday when the new French Ambassador, M. Jean Bourdellie, called on the Prime Minister. The new British Ambassador, Mr. Patrick Francis Hancock, also made his first call on Mr. Ben-Gurion since presenting his credentials.

M. Bourdellie discussed with the Prime Minister possibilities of further Franco-Israeli cooperation in the preservation of peace and the development of economically-poor countries.

At his meeting with Mr. Hancock, the Prime Minister recalled the days of the Battle of Britain and paid tribute to the heroic stand of the British people. The British constituency election system also entered the discussion.

E. Germans Demand Debate at Summit

BERLIN (Eastern Sector) (Reuters).

The Communist-dominated National Front of Political Parties yesterday called for "anti-Semitism, fascism and militarism in West Germany" to be brought up at the summit conference in the presence of both German Governments.

A memorandum addressed to the four great powers and signed by "leading personalities" of the East German Republic, was passed round at a meeting held last night by the East German Air Ministry, near the East-West city border.

The meeting also called on the German people to rescue its honour which, it said, was in danger from reviving anti-Semitism.

It said clear regulations laid down in the 1945 Potsdam agreement, banning the Nazi party and dissolving military and semi-military organizations and societies which helped preserve German militarism had not been applied in West Germany.

Speaking at the meeting, the Rabbi of East Berlin, Martin Riesenburger, said "the first are already burning over there."

Symington Won't Enter Primaries
NEW YORK (Reuters). — Senator Stuart Symington, long regarded as a likely contender for the Democratic Presidential nomination, has said he would like to be President but has no plans for an actual campaign.

He said on a television programme on Sunday night that he had no intention of entering any Presidential Primary Elections.

Later, at a dinner sponsored by the Histrut, the Senator spoke of his recent visit to Israel. He said he was impressed with the courage and vision of Israel's people — "More than any other country I have ever been in."

Adenauer Urges Swift Justice

BERLIN (Reuters).

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said last night he urgently desired justice authorities in West Germany states to intervene against anti-Semitic outbreaks as strongly as West Berlin authorities had.

In a press interview, he said that enemies of West Germany would use the recent incidents "to say the Germans are the same as they were before" and added: "Public opinion in Germany must always turn against every form of racial persecution and against any persecution of man because of his religious belief."

Earlier, the Social Democratic majority in the West Berlin Parliament was said by a party spokesman to be "disappointed" that the Chancellor had not dealt with the anti-Semitic incidents in his speech to the city parliament in the afternoon.

Germany For Peace
In that speech, Adenauer said: "Whenever the Germans have done wrong in the past today in their overwhelming majority they are for freedom and peace in the world."

Speaking at a special session the first session he has ever spoken in the city parliament — Adenauer said: "We Germans know from the past that we want lack of freedom means and what danger a people who are not free can mean to the world."

He said that the legal status of Berlin must not be

Sculptor Elkan Dead At 82 in London

LONDON (Reuters). — Benno Elkan, sculptor who executed the candlestick stands in the Knesset Garden in Jerusalem, died in a London hospital on Sunday at the age of 82.

Born in Dortmund, Germany, in 1878, Elkan rejected the business career which his family had planned for him and studied painting and sculpture in Munich and Karlsruhe. He soon taught himself sculpture, in which he was acknowledged as a master while still a young man. Many of his sculptures decorated public places throughout Germany, and among those commissioned for him were Sir Winston Churchill, Chaim Weizmann and Arturo Toscanini.

In 1933 he fled Germany and came to England. In 1939 Westminster Abbey accepted from an anonymous donor a candlestick stand executed by Elkan. The branches of the candlestick, which is in the form of a present, 23 characters from the Old Testament.

On Israel's eighth Independence Day in 1948, Elkan's giant bronze menorah containing 23 panels on public themes and Jewish lore — was unveiled in the Knesset Garden. The candlestick was a gift of a representative committee of British Members of Parliament.

VISITORS' GALLERY: Mr. P. P. P. Narayanan

Malayan Trade Unionist

The former president of Malaya's Trade Union Congress, young 36-year-old P. P. P. Narayanan, arrived in Israel last week for a fortnight's stay as the guest of the Political Department of the Histadrut.

Mr. Narayanan heads Malaya's Union of Plantation Workers, which, with a membership of 100,000, represents the strongest organization of its kind in South-East Asia. The union is one of the 10 founding members of the 13-year-old Malayan labour movement. He also ranks as a member of the world executive of plantation workers of the UCTU. His deputy on that body is Mr. Moshe Elzoin of the Merkaz Hakali.

The most important achievement of his union, as seen by Mr. Narayanan, is that it has created the first complete fusion of the Malay, Chinese and Hindu communities in his country. Some 40 per cent of Malaya's inhabitants are of Malay origin. Another 40 per cent are Chinese and the remaining 20 per cent Hindu, relative newcomers who arrived in Malaya since the turn of the century to work on the rubber plantations.

Other achievements credited to the union are a 10-fold increase in wages (now averaging $1 a day) since the conclusion of World War II.

Old Israel Contacts

Mr. Narayanan said that his first contacts with Israel were made as a result of his association with the Trade Union movement. They date back to 1947, when he met Mr. David Hacohen at a conference in New Delhi.

Malayans were particularly interested in Israel, he pointed out, as the gap between East and West.

"We want to know how you are going about rebuilding your nation. There has been so much talk about Socialism. One can listen for hours to learned lectures on the subject. But in Israel I have seen it practised," Mr. Narayanan stressed.

Josephine Baker Takes Eleventh Orphan

PARIS (Reuters). — Josephine Baker, 35-year-old coloured singing idol of the thirties, is taking her eleventh orphan, a highly successful comeback at the Olympia Hall here on January 19 to attend the christening of her eleventh adopted child.

The baby is a little French boy who was found on Christmas Eve, shivering and wrapped in newspapers, in a dustbin in the Paris streets. The old rag picker who discovered the child, is to be godfather.

The newcomer to Miss Baker's "Little United Nations" of adopted children will be named Louis (Algerian), Youssef (Moroccan), and Youssef (Moroccan). The family name of Miss Baker's husband, band-leader Joe Louis.

In 1933 he fled Germany and came to England. In 1939 Westminster Abbey accepted from an anonymous donor a candlestick stand executed by Elkan. The branches of the candlestick, which is in the form of a present, 23 characters from the Old Testament.

On Israel's eighth Independence Day in 1948, Elkan's giant bronze menorah containing 23 panels on public themes and Jewish lore — was unveiled in the Knesset Garden. The candlestick was a gift of a representative committee of British Members of Parliament.

NEW EXECUTIVE OF SEPHARDI RABBIS

The Chief Rabbi of the Ramle-Lod District, Rabbi Isaac Abu Hattirah, was elected Chairman of the new nine-man Executive of the National Association of the Rabbis of the Sephardi and Oriental Communities at the group's recent conference in Ramle. A new 23-man Council was also elected.

The group decided to undertake a nation-wide spiritual and organizational programme under the slogan "Love, Truth and Peace."

Students Pack H.U. Cafeteria To Protest Higher Meal Prices

Hebrew University students at a "protest celebration" held yesterday at the Administration Building cafeteria to demonstrate against a rise in the price of meals.

Some 400 students jammed into the Hebrew University cafeteria to stage a "protest celebration" against higher prices for meals.

A statement issued later by the University authorities said that the student Union Committee had been broken off because of this "serious breach of discipline" and "damage to the University's name."

Students Pack H.U. Cafeteria To Protest Higher Meal Prices

The price was raised in order to ensure higher quality of food and service, following complaints, the statement said. The cafeteria, although open to all, was intended mainly for faculty and administrative staff, and lunchtime pressure was heavy.

The student's cafeteria could be reached by bus for two agorot, said the statement, and its meal prices ranged between 60 agorot and 110. Following the institution of a new price scale in the main cafeteria, the students appealed to the authorities and were told that the cafeteria was open to all.

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post January 12, 1960

In the Supreme Court

Sitting in Civil Appeals Before the President (Justices Olshan, Justices Landau and Wilkon).

The Income Tax Assessing Officer, Appellant, v. "Attar" Co. Ltd., Respondents (C.A. 264/59).

Interpretation of "Tax Year" in Defence Levy Law

The Supreme Court, by majority decision, allowed an appeal against a judgment of the Haifa District Court delivered on July 21, 1959 (in I.T.A. 121/59).

The Attar Company's financial year ends on December 31 and the income tax authorities agreed on the strength of section 7 of the Income Tax Ordinance, 1947, to permit them to pay income tax on the basis of a tax year ending on December 31 instead of on March 31, as is customary.

The Defence Levy Law of 1957 imposes an obligation on every person to pay an additional special defence levy on income for the tax year 1957. Section 1 of this same law provides that every term in the law shall have the meaning as in this Income Tax Ordinance unless the context otherwise requires. In the Income Tax Ordinance "tax year" is defined as a period of twelve months beginning on April 1 of the year concerned. The law therefore, in accordance with this definition, began on April 1, 1957.

On March 31, 1957, the Attar Company earned a certain sum of money. They claimed that they were not liable for the Defence Levy on this sum as they had not earned it in the tax year 1957. The Haifa Income Tax Assessing officer maintained, however, that as, for income tax purposes, they observed the Gregorian calendar and their tax year, therefore, commenced on January 1, 1957, the money they had earned on March 31, 1957 must be included in their income for the tax year 1957.

The Haifa District Court dismissed the Assessing Officer's argument, pointing out that in the Defence Levy Law of 1957, as opposed to the Defence Levy Law of 1957, the tax year 1956 is defined as "the financial year ending on March 31, 1957, and where the assessing officer has permitted, in accordance with section 7 of the Income Tax Ordinance, any special period of assessment, then that period of assessment of which the major part falls into that year." In other words, held the District Court, in accordance with the law of 1956 a taxpayer who observed the Gregorian year for accounting purposes was liable for the Defence Levy on his income during the period January 1, 1956 to December 31, 1956. The Defence Levy Law of 1957 contains no such definition of "tax year" and it must therefore be assumed, held the District Court further, that the term "tax year 1957" in that law means plainly and simply the financial year beginning on April 1, 1957 and ending on March 31, 1958.

The Haifa Assessing Officer appealed against this decision.

Mr. G. Hassid, Deputy State Attorney, appeared for the appellant, and Mr. E. Tovlin for the respondents.

Judgment

Justice Wilkon, who delivered the majority judgment of the Supreme Court, the President concurring.
